

Our Visit to the Katonah Museum of Art

Photography courtesy of Margaret Fox

We are going to the Katonah Museum of Art, or the KMA. We will enter from the parking lot through the front door.

As we enter the Atrium, we will see the reception desk. A Guest Services Associate (GSA) will greet us and check us in. If we have a question, we can ask them for help. The all-gender accessible bathrooms are to the right and left of us.

If the Museum feels overwhelming, a GSA staff member can help us find a headphones, fidget tools, books or a quiet place.

Past the Atrium is the Marilyn M. Simpson Sculpture Garden. It is a place to rest or move around. If we bring a snack, we can eat it out there. The tall trees are called Norway Spruce.

Photography courtesy of Gabe Palacio

The exhibition in KMA's Beitzel Gallery is Leonora Carrington: Dream Weaver. We can't touch the artwork in this gallery, but we can look at it! We will keep a safe distance from the art and move carefully through the galleries.

Photography courtesy of Gabe Palacio

In the Righter Gallery is the exhibition Sublime Geometries: Selections from The William Louis-Dreyfus Foundation. We can't touch the artwork, but we can look at it! We will move carefully around the galleries and keep a safe distance from the art.

Photography courtesy of Gabe Palacio

In The Pollack Family Learning Center we will see the original illustrations from the picture book Out of this World: The Surrealist Art of Leonora Carrington. We can't touch the artwork, but we can look at it!

Photography courtesy of Gabe Palacio

The Learning Center is our space to sit and talk, read, and make art. When we enter the room, the plastic bins below the counter to the left have lots of fun materials for us to use. Check out the magnetic wall too!

We hope you have a fun visit at the KMA today!